By a fortuitous circumstance we got the blankets off the lemon trees after the Big Freeze in time to put them on the beds when the furnace went out in the Big Wind.

We couldn't light the furnace because the electricity was off (for 14 hours), we couldn't wash clothes because ditto, we couldn't wash dishes because the hot water heater was out-and we couldn't tell what time of the day it was because the electric clock was frozen at 12:20 a. m. Civilized life hangs by a fragile

During the recent snap (that the window. was no snap, that was an explosion), our gangly young avocado tree was wrapped snugly in a pair of red drapes-all but the very topknot which bushed out in a war bonnet. Looked like Sitting Bull standing and the neighbors laughed.

But it didn't freeze-ya ya!

And while on the subject, a friend of ours has been nursing an avocado tree for several years -but nary a fruit. So last week, resentful of its barrenness, he determined to cut away the lower branches. As he charged headlong into the foliage he was clunked on the head by the biggest, horniest alligator pear these old eyes have ever seen.

it's better than Mrs. Gas Bettencourt-which is the way I'm listed in the Civic Club roster."

The proprietress of a local shop was sitting at her desk last week, faced with an exhaustive pile of papers dealing with Social Security. Withholding Tax, Excise Tax. Profit. Loss and "If Item 8 is larger than Item 9"

"What makes it so difficult is the information that must be included," she explained to a sympathetic friend. "I have to send this. And this. Oh, and this, too!" The friend examined the mass of papers and thought a moment. Why don't you just send it all," she suggested, "and ask them to return what's left over?"

The Sierra Madre PTA made a sensible approach to banning comic magazines by asking local dealers to co-operate in censoring material themselves. By being tolerant and honest, by asking for help-they are the more likely to receive help.

Comics have presented a problem in our household too. Still do. But we thought we had a good substitute for lurid reading the other day and see what happened:

It was Saturday afternoon and the Met was presenting "Carmen." The music caught the small fry's fancy and as we tried to outline the plot we remembered a book of opera stories. We found it in the cellar, dusted it off and handed it over. Now that's the way to introduce good literature, we thought, as the young member began to read. An hour later she looked up

The polio epidemic in Los Angeles County is the worst in history. The iron lung concentration is the largest the world has ever seen, respirators mostly secured by the National Foundation.

Patient care expenses in October were $141,233.12.

November expenses, $165,000. High costs will continue for treatment after the epidemic. Polio care is expensive-

$2,000 per patient average. The local March of Dimes campaign is in full swing. Local organizations are taking the work seriously and lending every possible effort, according to Civic Club Chairman Mrs. Harold Pangborn.

A booth has been in front of the Bank of Sierra Madre since the start last Friday and will continue to be there every day to care for your donations.

Ladies in charge of the booth from the Woman's Club include Mesdames Calder W. City Pioneer, Alice Tufts Passes Away

A California pioneer and long time Sierra Madre resident, Miss Alice Elizabeth Tufts, passed away this week.

Miss Tufts had lived in Sierra Madre for more than 50 years and in California for 73 years. She resided here at 159 West Montecito.

Miss Tufts was an artist of note and nationally known. She had several pictures hung in a Washington, D. C. gallery.

When she first came to California she was secretary to Col. Lankershim, Los Angeles pioneer. She was the first woman passenger on the Pacific Electric Railway from Sierra Madre to Los Angeles.

Miss Tufts was a member of the Congregational Church and sister of the late Mrs. Philena Bovard of Sierra Madre. She was born in Iowa in 1869.

Services for Miss Tufts were held Tuesday at Grant Chapel with the Reverend Carl Smith officiating. Interment was in the family plot in Sierra Madre

MONEY TO BE USED FOR AFTER - SCHOOL PLAY

Sierra Madre this week was on the verge of collecting a $1100 windfall for the extension of after-school recreation here.

tricts so far have qualified for participation in the program. They are Los Angeles, which got about $125,000, and Pasadena High School district, which was allowed $30,000.

The money is apportioned, once a school district's participation in the recreation program is approved, on the basis of one-quarter of the district's recreation fund. This money is paid to the school district to be used for extension of recreational facilities. It is not a subsidy, County Manager Wayne R. Allen pointed out.

Sierra Madre will receive the fund on the basis of a $4000 recreation budget this year. Of this, the city pays

With this $4400 allocated for recreation, the county will contribute $1100 in quarterly payments. This will bring the city's recreation fund to $5500-and thus extend the number of hours of directed recreation by 25 per cent. The county money was assured after three members of the recreation commission conferred with Allen at his Hall of Records office in Los Angeles last week.

An outline of how recreation will be extended must be presented to the Board and Allen's office before a formal contract approved.

This is the first year that county money has been appropriated by the supervisors for such a purpose.

Gale on Heels of Snow Fells Trees, Wires

On the heels of the record snow storm and one of California's severest freezes came last week's raging wind storm. It was said by some to be the strongest wind since 1919. It struck Mt. Wilson at 80 miles an hour and the valley area at 60 miles an hour. Seven trees in Sierra Madre were felled by the gale and many branches, limbs and bushes came down. A large tree in the street at Highland and Hermosa blocked traffic for several hours while city crews worked to clear the roadway.

City Engineer Howard Brod estimates that it will take city workers two to three weeks to get the streets and the city entirely cleared, at a cost of from $1500 to $2000. Many trees weakened and cracked by the snow and the previous wind were easy marks for the gale.

The City's department of streets had opportunely just added a new pay-loader, heavy equipment to handle trees. Police lines were jammed

Ralph Dutro, district manager of the Telephone Company, reported that the extent of the damage is hard to determine vet. Many nearly broken connections may not show up for Telephone repair crews were busy all Saturday night and Sunday restoring service. The biggest damage was due to trees and branches falling against wires and poles. Dutro estimates that not more than 50 or 60 phones in Sierra Madre were interrupted.

"I just hope it doesn't blow again," he said.

Robert Green, manager of the Sierra Madre office of the Edison Company, said that the damage to their equipment

Changes are not welcome strangers in any community when they are for the worse. Sierra Madre has had changes during the past few years arising out of congestion and crowding that needs A-1 priority attention by its citizens.

The hardest hit of any area of the city is the Canyon area. Parking, juvenile delinquency, barking dogs and general malcontent are all results of inadequate attention. Much too long has the problem of parking and playground facilities for canyon children been pushed off the calendar of work by the citizens. Only last year, city council meetings brought out the possibility of closing the canyon plunge because of parking and fire hazards.

Actually, finances was a secondary issue and by popular demand, the plunge was open for the summer season without any further regard for the problems which originally brought the question before the council.

Citizens of the canyon area are not happy about the situation one bit and would like to see the matter looked into by experts and would like to have something done about it. There have been many suggestions as to how better parking could be made available. At the present time there are unimproved lots in the canyon area which could be bought up by the city and used as a series of parking lots throughout the canyon. Another suggestion has been made that the wasted space over the flood control creek just below the canyon plunge could be permanently covered with steel, concrete or wooden construction to provide parking for canyon residents. These are only suggestions—we should have many more and should have a committee to study these suggestions and bring the most practical before the city council for ACTION. Any improvement in the parking situation will be beneficial to ALL concerned. The playground facilities for chil- who participated in the recent

At the same time, School Superintendent Charles Skutt announced that the enrollment average for the elementary grades during the first four months of the present term was 555. Last year it was 534. In 1945 it was 446. The average yearly increase has been 36 pupils, and the total increase since 1945 has been 109 pupils, he said. He added that these figures, bearing out a survey made last year, indicate that the school population for the kindergarten through the sixth grade will be 888 by 1957. Last year's survey indicated that the number of students in all grades through the eighth in Sierra Madre by 1957 would be 960. On the basis of a conservative estimate of 120 seventh and eighth grade students attending Pasadena junior high schools, this total figure for nine years hence could be revised upward to 1008, he said.

The aged mother of Mrs. Jack Paschal of 59 N. Sunnyside, Mrs. Anna McCrea Patterson, passed away Monday evening at St. Luke Hospital. Her demise came suddenly while Mrs. Paschal was at her bedside.

Mrs. Patterson would have celebrated her 91st birthday next April. She was born in McFall, Missouri of a pioneer family originally of Kentucky. Mrs. Patterson has lived in California thirty years. She is also survived by a son, R. E. McCrea of Los Angeles and a sister in St. Joseph, Mo.

Mrs. Patterson re-broke her hip New Year's day, and later underwent surgery. It was 23 years ago on New Year's day that Mrs. Patterson experienced critical injuries when a bleacher collapsed at the Tournament of Roses, killing eleven persons and injuring scores. Her injury at that time included a broken leg, arm and pelvis. She has worn a steel back brace ever since.

The final rites will be held Friday afternoon at Forest Lawn in the Little Church of the Flowers at 3 o'clock. The family are asking that flowers be omitted.

A fallen 220-volt line in the Terrace district left residents there without power for about 12 hours. The line fell Saturday about midnight, and service was restored Sunday noon.

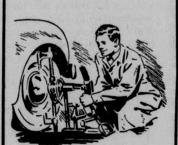

The Edison Company used special radio trucks to dispatch crews to the jobs.

Pasadena reported more than 200 trees damaged. In Altadena 12 power lines were downed. More than 125 trees were uprooted in Los Angeles. And Los Angeles Mayor Bowron asked for a special appropriation of $30,000 to clear streets of the wind's debris.

BY MAXINE BALLING

T DOESN'T MAKE SENSE! We're rarking down the prices on SNOW SUITS at the Balling Baby Shop . in a winter like THIS, with the most snow ever seen in Cali-fornia! Nevertheless we have several of those nice warm lined Zelan wind and water proof snow suits that cus-tomers either won't buy or don't know about. Darned if I'm going to keep 'em around here all next summer, so I'm going to let folks know about hem . . with an extra $4 inducement. The snow suits sold all fall for $10.95 and I'm marking them down to 6.95. You save $4. They're sizes 1 to 3. Also we have some corduroy snow suits that were $12.95 and we're marking them down to 7.95. That's a saving of FIVE dollars! That ought to interest SOMEBODY!

TOO MANY RUBBER PANTS TOO. I should say PLASTIC for these are the Plymouth Perfect plastic pants which LOOK like rubber, but are more durable. I'm closing them out, marking them down from 69c to 39c. You

DRESSES ARE IN OUR HAIR TOO. There are a lot of size 3 to 12 dresses on our racks that we'd like to move out to that we'd like to move out to make room for the new spring stocks which already are beginning to arrive. They're dresses that would be fine for school wear, a little of this and a little of that, selling regularly for 2.95, 3.95 and 4.95. We've marked them 1.95, 2.50 and $3, respectively, savings of $1 to 1.95. Here are some real buys.

COAT situation is like this: There are several dozen girls' coats on the racks, broken sizes, and they've been selling for 10.95 to 24.95. We're closing them out, marking the 10.95 coats down to 6.95... and so on up to the 24.95 coats which are marked down to 19.95. In other words, savings of $4 and $5 on each savings of $4 and $5 on each

REMEMBER THOSE 4.95 SWEATERS? The other day we announced that we had too many $4.95 cardigan sweaters and were closing them out at 2.95. You should have seen the customers take them out of here! However, them out of here: However, they didn't get all of them . . have a few left . . and as long as they last they're yours for 2.95. Quite a few nice colors and styles.

ONLY TWO MORE THINGS BOTHER US NOW: That's blouses and knit suits. In blouses we're shooting the works. all regular 3.95 and 4.95 blouses are going out for 1.95. That's right. ONE-NINETY-FIVE! And there are lots of them to pick from. lots of them to pick from, cotton and rayon, tailored styles and more frilly ones, sizes 7 to 14 and 10 to 16. The knit suits are those beautiful ones from the Holbeautiful ones from the Hollywood Knitting Mills, regularly priced 12.95 and 16.95. Just bought too many of them, I guess. So we're reducing them an even $5 each. That means that the 12.95 knit suits are 7.95, and the 16.95 suits are now 11.95.

OH! I almost forgot those little wash suits, size 1 to 3 I'm going to close those out too. They've been selling for 2.95 and out they go this month for 1.50. In the same lot I'm including a few little knit suits *too.

POINT IS that we're having quite a clearance over here at the BALLING BABY SHOP in Monrovia. Come on over.

South American Trip For Recntly Wed Mr. and Mrs. Davis

Now honeymooning in South America are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Davis, who were quietly married in Long Beach, Monday. Mrs. Davis is the former Mrs. Allie M. Copenhaver, 250 North Sunnyside. Her groom is from Long Beach.

The ceremony, performed by Rev. Carl Smith of the Sierra Madre Congregational Church, was at the home of the bride's son, Roy McCullough.

Immediately following, the couple left for the Inglewood Airport and will travel both by plane and luxury liner to South America. They expect to be gone until April.

Because the bride's son, Roy McCullough is married to the groom's daughter, Mr. Davis becomes the father-in-law of his own daughter and the stepfather of his son-in-law.

The new Mrs. Davis, a Sierra Madre resident 20 years, was honored at a miscellaneous shower last week at the home of Mrs. Thomas K. Nielson, 245 N. Sunnyside. Co-hostesses receiving the 20-odd guests. were Mrs. C. L. Twycross and Mrs. B. L. Hinkley.

MENDERS MEET

A dozen Canyon members of the Thimble Club met for a sewing session Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eva Graves. 524 Oakdale Drive. They worked on monthly mending for the Plaza Children's Home.

Pasadena Play House

Down the stretch in a burst of fast-paced laughter comes "Three Men on a Horse" and the George Abbott-John Cecil Holm comedy is slated for Pasadena Playhouse stage from January 12 to 23 in a special revival.

Erwin, the greeting card versifier, suddenly becomes the unwilling protege of the horsey set when it is discovered that he can pick race track winners between verses. The trials and tribulations of Erwin, the desperate tactics of the track touts and the wails of his boss bring gales of guffaws in this Laughter Handicap winner.

Current season at Santa Anita track inspired the revival of "Three Men on a Horse" long a comedy favorite on Broadway, national road shows and films.

An abundance of old Sierra Madre friends helped Mr. and Mrs. Carlton J. Pegler, one of the town's most prominent families, celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary, Tuesday

Mr. and Mrs. Pegler were married 50 years ago in the Sierra Madre Church of the Ascension, by Rev. John H. McCrackan.

Over 100 guests came to their home at 89 West Orange Grove, and were served wedding cake from a table decorated with mixed yellow jonquills, roses and gold candles.

The bride of 50 years wore a teal crepe gown, with orchid corsage.

Mrs. Pegler, nee Mabel Robinson, was born in Sierra Madre, the daughter of William Robinson, first Postmaster here and a well-known merchant.

Mr. Pegler has been the local City Treasurer since Sierra Madre was incorporated.

WISTARIA MEANS SIERRA MADRE TO THE WORLD: LET'S ALL TAKE PART

To the outside world—and, literally, we mean the world—the name Sierra Madre is associated with Wistaria. Sierra Madre is the Wistaria City. It takes its color from this plant.

The plant's blossom is its symbol. And, in part, it was the city's giant Wistaria Vine that has made the city famous and brought thousands of visitors here during the past 36 years. The vine has always been associated with the city, but in recent years the city has disassociated itself from the vine-It is time, however, for the city to again pick up the spirit of Wistaria season for a community festival—a Wistaria Fete.

All of Sierra Madre's civic organizations this year are being given the opportunity of taking part in the fete. Their sponsorship will assure the perpetuation of the exemplary community spirit that is inherent in Sierra Madre's makeup.

The program for a community fete that will do justice to Sierra Madre's reputation as the Wistaria City deserves the cooperation of every civic group.

The 1949 Wistaria Fete should be the forerunner of many successive outstanding festivals.

Let's bring the Wistaria back to Sierra Madre!

AN INTELLIGENT APPROACH TO THE CURRENT COMIC BOOK PROBLEM

Sierra Madre Parent-Teacher Association members who a week ago made a survey of comic books on the news stands of the city are no blue-nosed snoopers.

No one knows better than a conscientious parent what a scourge the undesirable strips can become on the formative minds of children. And the merchants of the city are to be commended for their understanding spirit of co-operation.

The County Board of Supervisors found it necessary to pass an ordinance banning the sale to children of all published material which contains any element of crime.

Such a law, however, is certainly not necessary for Sierra Madre. Because the undesirable elements of "comic" books are obvious, the problem can be met on the basis of cooperation.

Such an understanding does not, of course, bar the many dozens of comic books which are inoffensive and properly slanted for the

The P.-T.A. has asked only that the vicious be turned back to the publishers. In that way, too, the buyers' boycott will have effect. It will mean, in the long run, that publishers will give their own books a shot in the arm with a measure of "intelligent approach to amusement."

Miniatures The Art of Painting in Little

BY F. W. VAN WEST

With the passing of Miss Ella Shepard Bush on December 11th, 1948, who was one of the great miniaturists of our time, it is fitting, I think, to start my discussion of different phases of painting and engraving, with this branch, of which Miss Bush was such a famous exponent. And inasmuch as France furnishes us with the finest early examples of that art, I shall put the spotlight on that country.

The common belief that the word "miniature" means something small, is erroneous. The word is derived from the Latin noun "Minium," which means "red lead" and which, mixed with gums and white of egg formed a basic color for the illumination of manuscripts by

These MSS, some of which date back to the VIIIth and IXth centuries, were made of parchment, i. e. kid or sheepskin, prepared for writing and painting. On these sheets of parchment, or vellum, as the finest kind of parchment is called, monks wrote down the life of the Virgin Mary and that of the Saints.

The first sheet of such manuscripts (manuscript is the Latin word for "written by hand") is usually decorated with pictures pertaining to the text, while the first letter of the first word of the starting sentence is a veritable work of art by itself. Beautifully painted borders, first of Byzantine character and later consisting of friezes of flowers embellished these sheets of vellum. At first these illuminated MSS were painted by monks, and were under control of the Church, highly encouraged by Charlemagne (768-814), but at a later period, to be more specific, in the XIV century we find that a school of miniaturists is living near gate of St. Denis in Paris. Comparing this secular with the original ecclesiastic MSS, we notice at once a more lifelike portrayal of subject matter, scenes of the daily life of the people, with landscape backgrounds, scenes of agriculture, industry and husbandry, for the artists of these miniatures were common folk and not limited in their vision by cloister walls. Sometime before 1334, these artists created the lovely Breviary of Belleville, which became the forerunner and set the style of so many "Books of Hours." These "Books of Hours" usually started with a calendar of the months, a page for each month and we find portrayed the first landscapes on those pages. The finest of these Books of Hours, is that one, which Jean de France, first Duke of Berry (1340-1416) ordered the three brothers de Limbourg to make for him. The work was started in 1409. Ten and one half, of the 12 pages of the calendar of this most beautiful book, called "Tres Riches Heures" (Very rich hours), were finished in 1416 when the Duke died. Eventually it came into the hands of Charles I (1460. 1490) Duke of Savoie, who ordered Jean Colombe in 1485 to finish the book. (For a beautiful reproduction of this greatest collection of miniatures, I refer you to "Life" magazine, Volume 24, No. 1, of January 5, '48). The Duke of Berry, who ordered the "Tres Riches Heures," was a very rich prince and until he gave vent to his mania for collecting beautiful works of art, had enough money to keep his 12 or more magnificent castles stocked and in good repair. His collecting bug however, got the best of him. Castle after castle was first pledged and then lost, but in spite of all that, he kept his staff of artists working and well paid. In his collection we find another beautiful book of miniatures, the "Tres Belles Heures," second only to the "Tres Riches Heures." This book was made by either a Parisian artist Jacquemart de Hesdin or by a protege of the Duke, Andre

Now we come to Jean Fouquet (1415-1485). Born at Tours. This artist started by painting miniatures, but later became a painter of larger portraits. In Chantilly there are kept 40 miniatures by Fouquet which form the "Livre d'Etienne Chevalier." Etienne Chevalier, was Secretary of state under Charles VIIth and Louis XIth. It is a beautiful collection of miniatures, done in harmonious colors of blues, reds and soft greens, highlighted with a gold powder. The work is an accurate reference for contemporary costumes and manners. In the Louvre we find four splendid large portraits by Fouquet, one of them of Agnes Sorel, the favorite of Charles VII. Next month, I hope to continue this article on Miniatures, the materials used, prices they command and how to take care

So until then, au revoir.

Saving Steps

If the steps saved by the telephone since its invention were placed end to end you couldn't even imagine how far they would reach into space. And counting them one by one would be like counting the national debt, penny by penny. No matter how you figure it the telephone is the greatest step saver ever discovered.

The telephone runs errands . . . bridges distance . . . gives protection . . . brings friends together . . . wins business . . . hunts jobs . . . cements family ties . . . enlarges horizons . . . extends hospitality . . . destroys isolation . . . conserves energy and saves time as well

The widening knowledge of these facts is causing the most tremendous demand for to' tone service in the history of the Industry.

Ten Ton Map Shows S. Cal. Water Plan

The answer to Southern California's water problem has been learned in the past two weeks by 36,000 visitors at the Colorado River Association exhibit currently on display at the Los Angeles Public Library. The exhibit is a huge relief map showing 50,000 square miles of Southern California territory, and is considered to be the most accurate miniature of a large area ever constructed. Weighing approximately ten tons, the map is made up of more than 250,000 separate pieces of fibre board. Its principal feature is the Metropolitan Aqueduct through which 28 Southern California cities with a combined population of 3,425,. 000 get Colorado River water.

The exhibit is sponsored jointly by the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power and the Colorado River Assn., a citizens' committee that has been formed to defend the rights of Southern California citizens to their legal share of Colorado River water.

The map will be on display Mondays through Saturdays from 10 A. M. to 9 P. M. at the Los Angeles Public Library, 630 West Fifth Street, in downtown Los Angeles, and free lists of books on the Colorado River water problem will be available to the public.

THE RIKEMAN'S SHOP SELLS WARES IN FRIENDLIEST ATMOSPHERE

Mrs. Maude S. Rikeman operates the shop which all Sierra Madreans know so well—the Rikeman's, first opened about 20 years ago by Mrs. Rikeman and her husband, George Rikeman

When they came to Sierra Madre in 1919, Mr. Rikeman worked with a Los Angeles wholesaler and had many connections with manufacturers in the East. They decided in 1930 to open in Sierra Madre "a real-ly nice store." With Mr, Rikely nice store." With Mr, Rikeman's connections and experience, they put in all the best lines of stationery, glassware, gifts, greeting cards, pottery and books, all these lines and items the store still carries.

In addition to making their store the best of its kind, the Rikemans also made a show place of their home at 26 West Orange Grove.

SAM DAVIS' SHELL SERVICE STATION EFFICIENT FAMILY CO-OPERATION

Sam's Shell Service Station at North Baldwin and Montecito is a family operated business— a hundred percent. Sam Davis has as his assistants in the station, his brothers Dan and Jimmie and his son, Charles. For almost four years they have been giving full Shell service efficiently and pleasantly—washing, greasing and all the other little services. needed to keep your car run-ning and running smoothly.

Sam Davis has lived in Sierra Madre for 12 years. He opened the station after his return from almost four years in the Army Air Force as an instruct-or. He has a family of five children, in age from two months to fifteen years.

As a hobby and as a side-line, the family also gets to-gether on a pottery business which they operate at their home. Sam and Dan and the rest of the family, too, design and make figurines and wall vases. They design their own models, cast their molds, mix their own clay and carry the whole process through from scratch.

GARLAND'S 5-10-25c AND DRY GOODS STORE STOCKS THOUSANDS OF ITEMS

R. E. Garland, Sr., came to California about 15 years ago to take it easy. So he founded a chain of four admirably stocked and efficient 5-25c and dry goods stores.

He is a doctor of optometry and was a practicing optomet-rist in the east before coming to California. The family came to Sierra Madre from Kansas.

The other three stores in the chain are in Norwalk, Arcadia and Pasadena. The stores stock thousands of 5 to 25c items and Garland is familiar with all of

The Sierra Madre store also boasts an excellent yardage center. For a store this size, it is very complete. The dry goods section of the store stocks a full line of infants' needs and gifts, whildren's appared and women's children's apparel and women's hosiery, sweaters and lingerie.

R. E. Garland's two sons, Larry and Russell assist in the management of the stores.
